Town centre roadworks set to begin

WORK on a scheme to improve traffic in the heart of Northampton town centre will begin next week.

Earlier this year, it was announced £981,000 had been awarded from the Government's Growing Places fund to improve traffic around Guildhall Road and St Johns Street, close to the Royal & Derngate theatre.

Work on the project will begin on Monday with improvements made at the bottom of Guildhall Road.

Further work will see traffic lights removed at the Commercial Street and St Johns Street junctions and a new pedestrian crossing installed at the lower end of Bridge Street.

Northamptonshire County Council's cabinet member for infrastructure, Councillor Andre Gonzalez De Savage (Con, East Hunsbury) said: "I'm delighted work is starting on this very exciting project which will help unlock three very important developments in the town centre."

Projects which will move forward thanks to the road improvements include the development of a new hotel close to Royal & Derngate, The University of Northampton's new student halls of residence and the county council's new headquarters.

The first phase of the work will be completed by Christmas and all construction will stop over the peak shopping period.

over the peak shopping period.
Work will start again in January 2013 with the widening of Swan Street to allow traffic to flow in both directions. That part of the work will be completed by late March.

'Fantastic' response to fatal crash appeal

POLICE say they have had a "fantastic response" to an appeal to find the people who vandalised tragic Joanna Smith's car, as they follow up a number of potential tip-offs.

Joanna, aged 32, died in a crash on the A45, near Earls Barton, on April 10. Extensive tests showed one of the tyres on her black Honda Jazz had been deliberately punctured before she set off on her journey to work.

Three other vehicles parked near Joanna's in Grange Park, Northampton, the previous night also had tyres damaged. Last week officers investigating Joan-

Last week officers investigating Joanna's death appealed for the public's help in identifying the person responsible. As a result, a number of people have contacted them information.

Det Chief Insp Martin Kinchin, from the Major Crime team, said: "We had a fantastic response from the public following last week's appeal and we are now in the process of establishing if any of the information will lead us to identifying the offender.

"Joanna's life was taken as a result of a random act of vandalism, and I believe the person who committed that act did not know the consequences of their actions until last week.

"Tappeal directly to the person responsible for the damage to Joanna's car, or anyone who may have witnessed it, to think about what they have done, or witnessed, and please contact us."

Witnesses or anyone with information about this incident can contact Crimestoppers anonymously on $0800\ 555\ 111$ or the investigation team on 101.

Northampton Royal & Derngate staff host Macmillan coffee morning.

Coffee appeal stirs up support big time charitable residents and organisations held coffee mornings last week to raise funds for the Chronicle & Echo and Macmillan's appeal.

The events were part f Macmillan's annual World's World's Biggest Coffee Morning appeal, and will support the £1.55 million bid to help fund a new blood cancer unit at Northampton General Hospital, appeal spearheaded by the Mercury's sister newspaper, the Chronicle & Echo, and Macmillan Cancer Care.

Northamptonshire The coffee morning events are expected to make more than £130,000 in total, which will boost the appeal fund over its current mark at around £1.1

raising manager Northamptonshire Cherida Plumb said: "It was fantastic to meet so many of our coffee morning hosts last week and I was amazed at the variety of events and the ingenuity involved in inspiring donations.

"It was truly humbling to see the support for Macmillan that comes from the lovely people of Northants.

"I met some incredibly inspiring and passionate people who, having received support from Macmillan in the past or currently receiving support, are eager to help support Macmillan's work so that others can turn to us in times of great need and emotional turmoil."

She added: "I would like to say a personal thank-you on behalf of Macmillan to all those who supported coffee morning.

"I hope you had fun and I look forward to seeing you again next year."

A total of 1,366 events were registered across the county and more than 100,000 across the UK as a whole.

Money raised included £1,142 from an event at Charwelton Village Hall, £1,000 from a coffee morning bosted by Maureen Down, £2,500 from a charity horse ride by the Belinda Tyler charity, £681.36 from residents in Elkins Close in Yelvertoft, £1,100 from St Giles Jewellers, £110 from Delapre Hospital and Outreach Education and £315.58 from security service supplier VSG Northampton. in Brackmills.

Fair with 120ft ride dispells trade fears

A 120FT CHAIR ride will be the hair-raising focal point of the returning St Crispin's street fair, but businesses fear the event will be a financial rollercoaster for town centre stores.

The fair will return to the streets of Northampton next month for the first time since owner Albert Evans, the fair will run from 2pm on Sunday, October 28, until Tuesday, October 30, and will feature 44 attractions, including stalls and children's rides, across Gold Street, Mercer's Row, the bottom of the Market Square and the bottom of Abington Street.

Organised by fairground

The rides will include 2extreme, a 49 metre-high pendulum, Sky Flyer, a 120ft chair ride and other major attractions along with the traditional Waltzers and Mr Evans said he wanted to support Northampton's businesses by helping to bring visitors into the town during

He said: "When people go home on Saturday night, the street will be normal, and when they come back on Sunday, the fair will be there with the lights twinkling and the smell of candy floss.

"We are pleased to bring the fair back to Northampton after so many years, and I hope we are able to bring in business to support the town centre market and all the traders."

However, some firms fear shoppers will be put off coming into town due because of the fair. The fair will have its own stewards, security and toilets.

Pushy Salesmen? Not With Cloudy2Clear!

Cloudy2Clear Windows, the Northampton based window repair company, are revolutionising how homeowners view double glazing in our area. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as customers take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Škidmore, is convinced that much of his success is down to the fact that he employs tradesmen, not salesmen. 'If you think about it, who wants to deal with the dreaded double glazing salesman?

ENTER NOW!

The thought of going through the whole tedious process of haggling with someone who arrives at 7 at night and then camps themselves in your house until midnight is not one most people find attractive. A lot of our customers are elderly and can feel very pressurised by sales tactics. We set out from day one to be very different.

Trevor makes very sure his customers are looked after right from the first time Cloudy2Clear arrive at the house. 'All our staff arrive in uniforms so the customer knows who they are and I insist that they wear plastic overshoes to protect the customers carpets. We then measure the windows that have a problem and price the job up there and then, which usually takes around 15 minutes. If the customer wants the job doing we'll arrange installation but if they want to call us back later that's fine. What I don't want to hear from any of my customers is that they felt pushed into anything. It's just not our style.

We're trying to give the glazing industry a reputable face and the evidence of my order book tells me my customers like our approach.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be more than happy to help!

Fans' traffic chaos prompts a rethink

HUGE queues which left football fans stuck in a car park for up to an hour have prompted a rethink of plans aimed at cutting congestion.

The controversial "traffic management plan" – drafted by Saints rugby bosses to help reduce delays on matchdays when both of the town's sports team were in action at the same time - came in for criticism from Cobblers' fans after they were left sitting in stationary traffic after Saturday's clash with Chesterfield.

Conservative MP Northampton South Brian Binley slammed the system, fearing the rugby club was being "elitist" in allegedly putting the needs of Saints' fans above those of Cobblers' supporters.

On Monday, it was decided the Cobblers' home game against Port Vale on October 27 – the same day as Saints have a home game with bitter rivals Saracens - will now kickoff at 2pm to allow fans to stagger the time they arrive and depart from the car parks.

Cobblers' spokesman Gareth Willsher said: "We took the decision off our own back and, hopefully, it's a common sense decision to help supporters of both clubs and local businesses. Fixture clashes only happens three or four times a year. We do try to limit them as much as possible, but it's frustrating when it does happen."

The switch was welcomed by Cobblers' fans who hope they will now be able to get away from Sixfields before the full-time whistle blows at nearby Franklin's Gardens.

Saints are understood to be keen on keeping the traffic management system in place when it is just them playing in the area on a Saturday.

Fans left stranded in the car parks on Saturday criticised those behind the system.

Cobblers' supporter Steve Riches said: "It was a disaster of typically poor Northampton planning.

candidates hoping to become the county's first police commissioner locked horns in a hustings last week, which ended with one pledging to do the job for free.

The candidates for the new £70,000-a-year post, which will come into place following elections across the county on November 15, debated topics ranging from a lack of police funding to improving crime detection rates.

The event, held in Raunds, saw candidates given 10 minutes to make their case for election before an audience, included around 30 which people from parish, borough, district county councils Northamptonshire, then asked auestions

Lee Barron, the Labour candidate, said: "Any PCSO has an assurance from me, that they will not be forced out of their job.

"There will be no redundancies as far as PCSOs are concerned."

Jim MacArthur, the UKIP candidate, said he wanted to introduce neighbourhood wardens and boost frontline police.

He said: "I will be working to ensure we get sufficient finances to pay for such frontline officers.

John Norrie, independent, told the audience he had the right credentials.

He said: "I know policing and I

ents reap t of refit

STUDENTS at University The of Northampton are enjoying the benefit of a £400,000 refit of a union bar completed during the summer.

The upstairs of the Student Union building at Park Campus has been completely redeveloped with furniture, a sound system and flooring installed.

Tim Joaquim, president of the students' union, said the building was now fit to be used much more regularly in both the daytime and for evening events.

He said: "Before it was the empty aircraft hanger space that was never really used that much.

"The reaction from the students to the refit has been brilliant, and some of the second and third year students have come in here and said they don't recognise the place.

"We can use it in the day for fitness classes and in the evening for parties.

"It will make a really big improvement in the student experience.

Mr Joaquim said the sound system, which includes speakers in the ceiling of the room, was designed so that no noise would seep out of the building and provoke complaints from nearby residents.

As a result of the new student union bar, Mr Joaquim said the university had been able to attract wellknown music artists such as rapper Lethal Bizzle and The Vaccines.

Mr Joaquim said: "This has been the best-ever freshers week at The University of Northampton.

"We had the free Professor Green gig at the Royal & Derngate which was probably one of the best freshers events in the country."

The freshers events at the university will go on until October 7.

Northampton Mercurv. Thursdav. October 4th. 2012 17

It is fantastic having you as a point of contact for the Northampton Chronicle and Mercury - you're hard working, pro-active, energetic, and a fantastic source of knowledge, which we as a company have lapped up. This did wonders for putting our company on the map in Northampton. The experience and support you provided gave me the time to focus on our marketing and run selected sales at key times in the month. Between the two of us, I think it's fair to say we raised the profile of Tile Choice way beyond expectations.

Tile Choice: 01902 357058

We recently ran a large Ad on a property in the Mercury and Citizen and I would like to thank you very much for your help and advice on running this promotion on this particular property showing several internal photographs of the house. As a result of this advertisement we had many many calls which in turn generated several viewings and I am glad to say this resulted in an agreed sale, subject to contract.

Many thanks again for all your help and time - much appreciated Ashby Lowery Residential Sales: 01604 609609

Thank you for the brilliant service you gave me when placing my listing. Originally I was only going to place one for a few weeks but with the great help and attention, you showed me the benefits of taking on a year's listing. I can now look at expanding the size of listing, areas and papers that I advertise in.

I will recomend you to the other 5 businesses that I work closely with. I look forward to doing more business in the future.

I would like to thank you for all your help and for your assistance with booking my advertisement, I have found you most helpful in assisting me. I had advertised little before within these publications and you have presented various ideas. We gained more response than expected which has been fantastic and I have now committed to a longer period of advertising for my gardening and landscaping business. GG Landscapes: 01604 696223

Children making a Christmas record at Nicholas Hawksmoor School, in aid of Lewis Wares, who needs £50,000 for an operation, Tony Hadley from Spandau Ballet will also sing on Emma Wares, Lewis' Mum, Kat Stephens, singing school teacher, Pete Langford from the Barron Knights, Keith Bessey, producer and Stewart Blandamer who wrote the song, with the children who are recording the song and Lewis Wares, 5 and his sister Lily Wares, 8, (front centre).

Stars on song to

THE grandfather of a Northamptonshire boy with cerebral palsy has written a song that will feature Paul Young and Tony Hadley to raise money for surgery.

Lewis Wares, aged five, of Nicholas Hawksmoor School Towcester. in was given hope that he could walk by a potential operation in the United States, costing £50,000.

With the family struggling to meet the price, Lewis's eight- year-old sister, Lily, asked her grandad, Stuart Blandamer, who was in the Q-Tips band with Paul Young in the 1980s, to write a Christmas song for her

Mr Young and Spandau Ballet singer Tony Hadley have now both agreed to sing on the single, for which Lewis's school's choir has already recorded some vocals.

Once the two worldfamous artists have recorded their pieces on to iPhones, the song will be produced in a studio and released on November 3.

Lewis's mum, Emma, said: "It was a lovely idea by Lily, but there were points I thought it wouldn't be possible.

"It really looks like it'll happen now.

Voters criticise pay rise for councillors

VOTERS in Northamptonshire have strongly criticised a decision by councillors increase their basic rate of pay by 27 per cent.

Members of Northamptonshire County Council last week agreed the inflation-busting increase, which will see their basic pay rise from £7,086 a year to £9,000.

The move was opposed by many Chron readers.

Markie Prendiville said: "They get their increases and what do the constituents get? A primary school six miles away from their home due to the lack of schools.

"Cut their pay by half and build schools for the next generation."

He was backed by Kyle Tredwell, who added: "Why are they increasing their pay when there are a lot of things wrong with the town?"

But others felt the pay rate was relatively low.

Chron's Commenting on the Facebook page, reader Eileen Beesley said: "The allowances are not that big. Personally I wouldn't want the job - it's a no-win role.

"But any that do genuinely want to make a difference deserve to be paid."

While the basic allowance will go up, extra money paid to the leader of the authority will be cut by more than £2,000 to £32,000 and cabinet members will see their pay reduced by almost £2,000 to £19,000.

rivals, but the Nissan Leaf just might be the future of motoring.It's one of the few cars designed to run on electricity alone and isn't fitted with a back-up petrol engine.

When you're out of juice you will need to charge the battery . . . and that can take an age.

Even so, for the sort of driver who doesn't cover many miles a day and can afford to enjoy the full-on green street cred of the Leaf, this may just be the perfect vehicle. If you forget the range anxiety (Nissan reckons 110 miles, tops), this is a very nice car indeed.

Big enough for the family, it drives well.

My test Leaf had been charging overnight and indicated there were 98 miles stored in the array of batteries slung below the floor of the car; 20 miles of fairly gentle use later and we were down to 66 miles remaining.

You can charge your Leaf from normal domestic electricity supply; taking seven or eight

Attach the car to a public fast charging point and you're up to 80 per cent full in just half an hour. Nissan is so sure electricity is on to volts, the cost of the cars ought to start to fall.

The government is pledged to maintain its £5,000 per electric car subsidy throughout this parliament, but at some stage, EVs (for electric vehicles) will have to make their own economic case. At around £2 a full top-up, the upfront running costs look compelling. Add in the lack of a road fund licence fee, no London congestion charge and modest benefit in kind costs for business users and the case for a Leaf mounts up.

Most UK drivers cover only 30 miles a day on average, making the Leaf a realistic prospect.

Trouble will come when the annual holiday looms. Which is why I suspect the Leaf may end up as the second car in a family wealthy enough to have a conventionally powered back-up in the garage.

It may cost a lot, but the Leaf is well equipped with air con, cruise control, keyless entry and a navigation system that tells you the location of the nearest charging point.

It adds up to a surprisingly attractive package that might suit more drivers than they imagine.

Dylan ruled out after fracturing eye socket

SAINTS boss Jim Mallinder has revealed Dylan Hartley will miss this weekend's game at London Irish after sustaining a hairline fracture of his eye socket against Wasps.

Hartley sustained the injury during the second half of the 24-6 win at Franklin's Gardens on Friday night and was replaced by Mike

And Haywood is now set to get a chance from the start at the Madejski Stadium on Saturday as Saints look to make it six wins in as many games in the Aviva Premiership.

"The swelling has gone down but Dylan has got a hairline fracture of his eye socket," said Saints boss Mallinder.

"It means he will be out shortterm and he won't play this weekend"

Meanwhile, Mallinder labelled

Courtney Lawes 'absolutely outstanding' after the England star's super-show against Wasps.

Lawes, who had made his first start since February 18, against Worcester six days earlier, was at his bone-crunching best.

The 23-year-old put in some emphatic hits to leave Wasps wobbling and help Saints make it five wins out of five in the Aviva Premiership this season.

And Mallinder was delighted with the display of the giant forward, who has made a fine recovery from the elbow injury sustained during pre-season.

"Courtney was absolutely outstanding," said the Saints director of rugby. "Some of his defensive hits were staggering were staggering.

"He works hard, defensively he's just got that line speed and physicality in the tackle, where he really does just knock attackers backwards."

England coaches Stuart Lancaster, Andy Farrell and Graham Rowntree were in attendance at the Gardens and they will have been impressed with Lawes' performance.

And Mallinder's post-match thoughts will have been music to the ears of the Red Rose management team ahead of this year's autumn internationals, which begin at Twickenham on November 10.

"He's getting around as well as ever really," said Mallinder said. "You wouldn't think he's been out of the game since March.

"I do think he'll get better.

"Last week, physically in the last 20 minutes, he suffered because he's not played for a long time.

"This week we brought him off after 60 and he's only going to get better this season the more he plays"

HAPPY MAN – Jim Mallinder was delighted with Courtney Lawes' recovery

Danny: Lawes the boy for England

COURTNEY LAWES remains the best second row in the country despite his injury lay-off according to former England enforcer Danny Grewcock, who is tipping the Saints star to finish his season in a British & Irish Lions shirt.

Lawes made his comeback from a variety of injuries against Worcester last month, having been sidelined since February with knee, shin and elbow problems which saw him restricted to just one Six Nations appearance and saw him miss the entire summer tour to South Africa.

In his absences, Leicester lock Geoff Parling and Saracens colossus Mouritz Botha have staked formidable claims in the England engine room, ably assisted by Tom Palmer from the bench.

But Grewcock, who won 69 caps for England in the second row, believes Lawes should walk back into Stuart Lancaster's starting XV for the autumn internationals in November and December, provided he proves his fitness.

"I think if we are looking from an England point of view from the second row then you don't have to look any further than Courtney Lawes, even if he has been injured," said Grewcock, who is an SSE Rugby Energy ambassador.

"England are in a very strong position with second rows, some very talented lads there have all taken their opportunities with the likes of Mouritz Botha, Tom Palmer and Geoff Parling all coming in in.

"But Courtney was certainly, prior to his injury, the number one guy in the second row. I think he was the probably the form second row for England for a very long time and his game was outstanding.

game was outstanding.

"He was breaking tackles, running with ball in hand and generally making a menace of himself around the pitch, finally conjuring up that bit of fear a second row needs."

In an 11-year international career, Grewcock also toured twice with the Lions, in 2001 and 2005, and the former Bath and Sarries bruiser believes Lawes can follow suit next summer.

He added: "It would be good to see him get back and get back in that England jersey, and I'm sure anyone in the England jersey is going to be in a position to contest for that Lions shirt.

"He is definitely one to keep an eye on."
